Hands-on one day workshop using Neural Organization Technique protocols to categorize 5 levels of emotional stress and their correction. Learn how to quickly recognize and interpret these 5 emotional levels and how to swiftly neutralize it. This technique can be combined with other emotional clearing methods.

One of the true challenges of any technique is to quickly evaluate your patient and determine the best course of therapy that can be performed. Emotional overlays, when present, can and will sabotage the practitioners' ability to deliver a successful therapeutic session. The purpose of this workshop is to explore the causative factors behind this phenomenon and offer a quick and effective method to neutralize it.
